

French Summer Work

All students can benefit from review and practice of a second language during a long break such as summer vacation.

I am suggesting websites that are free and that any student may access with a computer or any device that has internet access.

I have used many of these in my classes at various times. Any student may use these resources to learn new vocabulary, review previously learned concepts and explore new ones!

#1. <https://www.languageguide.org/french/>

Here are found many exciting things to review and learn French!
There is audio available here as well!

#2. <https://www.languagesonline.org.uk/Hotpotatoes/frenchindex.html>

Here you will find sections of exercises for beginners through French 3.
If you explore this, you will find many interesting quick exercises for vocabulary as well as readings with questions. Also for various levels of French.

#3. <https://www.podcastfrançaisfacile.com/>

This is fabulous because you can listen to many things in French and practice pronunciation. Here are many assorted exercises grouped in categories. You can Search for what you want and you can explore many different areas of the language Such verb conjugations, vocabulary, specific parts of speech for example, interrogative Pronouns. Qui? Comment? Pourquoi? Qu'est-ce que c'est? Etc...
Also there are short stories to read and listen to.

#4. <https://www.laits.utexas.edu/tex/>

One of my favorites is this website with Tex Grammar!
You will recognize this resource as I use it regularly in my classes.
There is so much here if you want to explore!

#5. Instagram accounts: there are excellent Instagram accounts to follow for short, interesting facts and mini-grammar tips and /or vocabulary for current use of French. Some teachers of French have created relevant French language Information for new learners that you will not find in textbooks!
